our facility

Though Iverson Memorial Hospital began as a small building built in 1917, a lot has changed over the past 100 years. Since then, we've moved to a new location and have undergone significant expansion and renovation to our new facility.

Today, Iverson offers the latest technology and innovations to empower our physicians and providers to deliver the best care possible to our patients.

medical offices at ivinson

CREATING A CENTRAL HUB

In August 2017, the new Medical Offices at Ivinson were officially opened to the public.

The building features 35 examination rooms, 3 procedural rooms and a new parking garage that adds 52 additional parking spaces to our campus. This makes it possible for all Ivinson Medical Group providers and visiting providers to practice in one central location.

Instead of patients transitioning between buildings to have their lab work or X-rays, the Medical Offices at Ivinson connect directly to the north side of the hospital, affording patients the convenience of staying in one place for their healthcare needs.

what our doctors say

PROVIDER INSIGHTS AND THOUGHTS
.....

Iverson employs over thirty family practice and specialty providers. A supportive hospital culture, proximity to the outdoors, and the strong education system in Laramie are just a few reasons our physicians have chosen to practice at Iverson and in Laramie.

Kelly Follett MD

PHYSICIAN SPOTLIGHT

Dr. Kelly Follett recently celebrated her 1st anniversary with Iverson Memorial Hospital. Dr. Follett brings her passion for pediatric medicine to our Pediatric and Family Care Clinic where she practices as a Pediatrician and serves as our Medical Director for Iverson Medical Group.

Dr. Follett loves kids and always knew that she wanted to work with children in some capacity. After a high school administrator suggested she become a doctor, the idea stuck and once that decision was made, she didn't have to choose a specialty. She knew it would be pediatrics from the start.

Dr. Follett is excited to practice in the community of Laramie where she believes she has the unique opportunity to get to know patients and their families on a personal level.

"Here, you're not another number," she said, when speaking about the care that you receive from her, the phenomenal team of nurses, and every Iverson staff member in the clinic. When asked what excites her most about the future of Iverson and the Pediatric and Family Care Clinic, it was an easy answer for Dr. Follett, "to grow the services that parents want and need for their children."

As a mother of a two young children and the step-mom to a teenager, Dr. Follett knows how busy life can be for families so providing convenient care is important to her.

We like living in Laramie because of all of the opportunities here. The University of Wyoming offers many cultural events and we are big sports fans so we love to attend the Cowboys and the Cowgirls games. The schools are excellent and our kids have had very good experiences from grade school through high school. The opportunity for outdoor recreation is excellent—we enjoy fishing, hiking, camping and hunting. There are also great opportunities for downhill and cross country skiing in the winter and mountain biking in the summer.

— JULIE CARLSON, MD & MARTEN CARLSON, MD

The community provides good schools and educational opportunities through the University of Wyoming. Overall, Laramie is a great place to raise a family.

— JOHN BYERS, DO

Laramie is a wonderful place to practice medicine. The close proximity to Cheyenne and Fort Collins make it exceptional. Denver isn't too far for someone who doesn't mind a little bit of driving. Also, having the University of Wyoming right here with all the associated cultural activities gives it a happy, upbeat vibe.

— SAMEERA FAREED, MD

Laramie is a tight-knit community. You receive personal care more so than in a big city. Overall, IMH provides great care that is comparable to any bigger hospital for what we do here.

— JACK ULLRICH, MD

Farrukh Javaid MD

PHYSICIAN SPOTLIGHT

Dr. Javaid joined Ivinson Medical Group in 2015. As an internal medicine provider, Dr. Javaid is happiest when he can help patients diagnose, treat, and cure illnesses that impact their lives. Dr. Javaid and his family are celebrating 10 years in Wyoming and despite the cold winters, love Wyoming life!

Dr. Javaid chose internal medicine as his specialty because he loves the challenge that comes with it—he is constantly learning and discovering new things to help him diagnose and treat his patients. When asked what he enjoys most about practicing at Ivinson, Dr. Javaid said, “The size of our hospital allows you to build close relationships that help coordinate care.”

Dr. Javaid’s personal philosophy of care is one of “being there for your patients.” He is able to practice this philosophy daily, due to the support of administration and staff that enables him to spend quality time with each of his patients. Dr. Javaid believes patient education is the key to exceptional care and with ample time to see patients, he is able to educate on diagnoses, medication, and prevention.

Dr. Javaid is excited about the new Medical Offices at Ivinson and having all of the Ivinson and visiting providers under one roof. The ability to walk a few feet to speak with a specialty provider has enhanced the coordination of care and the entire patient experience.
